An Analysis Of The Electorate Of The United States Of America At November 2008

In the election of November 2008, Post-Modern Utopians combined with the numbers and the decisive qualification, voter and ballot fraud of Looters to hand the mechanisms of the Government of the United States to the Looters and such Post-Modern Utopians as were eager to join their bacchanalian debauch of the foundation and superstructure of American life.

Looters are now pursuing an omni-directional orgy of satisfaction including bearing down all opposition. No amount of gorging will sate their appetite. It is pure, unrestrained libido, drawing the entire world into their eyes and bellies.

The question may be asked what Looting Super Rich and cheats and idlers, the dependent class comprising most Blacks, many Hispanics and all anarchists, have in common, why do they align? They align because they are Looters who need one another.

Looting Super Rich need cheats and idlers to physically drive at humans and human values in order to distract the electorate from their stealing the electorate's wealth and freedom.

Cheats and idlers need Looting Super Rich to feed them so they can go and raise hell, which is what they enjoy doing, their preferred type of Looting. Of course by raising hell they are really serving Looting Super Rich as noted, to distract the electorate so they are not aware of being fleeced withal. Cheats and idlers are in fact Looting lackeys of Looting Super Rich. ACORN and its relatives, such as "the homeless," fit this description.

Another question may be asked: who drives the desire to be a Looter, Super Rich or cheat and idler? Who teaches those activities as exemplary, to be admired and emulated?

The answer is two-fold.

First, the curse of destiny. One comes into the world with a character formed during the previous birth. And one comes into a family and physical circumstances who and which work powerfully to form ones destiny in the current birth.

Second, the curse of education. Next after the mother and father, the teacher is the most formative influence on the character of a personality.

A person born with good character must be very strong if they are to survive parents and teachers of bad character. On the other hand, a person born with a mixture of good and bad character will have a good destiny if their parents and teacher have good character and they imbibe that from them. And the reverse if they do not.

In the case where few mothers have good character -- the condition of the United States at least since the Yalta Conference (to which I date the seemingly-decisive degeneration of the Latin Church, which includes the United States) -- and few fathers and teachers to make up for that disaster, the electorate must plunge into the clutches of Looters, Super Rich and cheats and idlers yoked together and driving to hell.

That is the condition of the Latin Church today. The mothers, fathers and teachers of the country have wrought a disaster.

A salient feature of the Tea Party rallies in the United States and the election protests in Iran is the large participation of women. This is a good thing and, with luck, a harbinger of better times ahead in both countries and their respective religious orbits (Latin Church and Baha'i Faith).

May they bring along the fathers and produce teachers of good character. That is the only way the mess can be cleaned up and its makers sent packing. The problem is spiritual depravity caused by spiritual deprivation and so the solution must be spiritual revival caused by spiritual reformation. It all starts with the mothers, the power not present at Yalta.
