

THEOLOGICAL GEOGRAPHY

THE RUBES AND THE EVIL ONES

JULY 10, 2009

The Rubes are those who, by June 2008, did not realize;

that for thirty years at least the goal of the cat now in the White House has been to wreck the United States and rule the result as sole authority indefinitely, that the "gift" he says he has is an extraordinary issue of the power to delude and deceive, a power which cuts two ways, by the way, and includes the ability to terrorize, that he deploys that deluding power, or "gift" as he calls it, efficiently and effectively, that he attracts to his agenda individuals who possess the same deluding power and want to deploy it through him for their own self-aggrandizement, not realizing they will "go under the

Loch Lomond

Loch Lomond from just below Beinn Dubh and Creag an t-Seilich.

bus" at any moment,

that over all of that, Michelle wears the pants in the family, and that none of these give a damn about anyone's soul.

The Evil Ones are those who, by June 2008, realized any or all of that and did not say so or "hoped for the best."

Well, Dan Riehl is finally coming clean, sort of. Here he is fully real, and so too the commenters.

We have been given all these magnificent instruments with which to immerse ourselves in the beauty and wonder of life and world -- eyes to see, ears to hear, hands to work, mouths to sing, intellects to grasp, hearts to soar -- and then someone comes along who wants to be strong on us?!?

To hell with them! Let them use their instruments as intended or let them cease to exist.

